Narberth Man Finds Official New York Reception for Lord Mayor Full of Thrills

To be asked by Mayor James J. Walker, of New York City, to be a member of his official reception committee to greet the Lord Mayor of Liverpool and the Lady Mayoress was the thrilling experience on Sunday of C. J. A. Decker, of Wynnedale Avenue, Narberth. The Lady Mayoress is the sister of Mr. Decker, and she and her husband are making a quick trip to the United States at the invitation of Mayor Walker. It is quite in the nature of a "good-will visit."

Plans for them include a trip to Washington, where the Lady Mayoress will be received by Mrs. Hoover. The Lord Mayor brought with him from the city of Liverpool a medal specially struck off to give to President Hoover, and he had a message from the Prime Minister of England for the President.

The official reception committee met the visitors at the boat and Mr. Decker said it was a most interesting experience to speed through New York in the official party with a motorcycle officer whistling continuously to clear the way. Traffic stopped, lights were right and the official cars sped on their way. Later Mr. Decker with several others in a Cadillac car with two stars on the side found that these stars had the desired "Open Sesame" effect on the New York traffic. Everywhere the insignia was recognized and right of way accorded.

Conquering New York traffic is a feat in itself, and watching the New York news photographers at work is another interesting part of being on an official reception committee. All the

Many Progressive Steps Taken by Narberth Community Club During Mrs. Green's Term

Mrs. W. Russell Green, popular head of the Women's Community Club of Narberth, will end her two-term presidency on May 19. Mrs. Green, who has been a resident of Narberth for about six years, served as chairman of the program committee before she was elected to the presidency two years ago.

There have been a number of progressive steps taken during Mrs. Green's regime and among them is the work of the international relations depart-

New Petition Asks Council to Include Windsor Avenue in Business District

Fix Same Rates

A school tax rate of 20 mills and a $2 per capita tax, the same as last year, were adopted by the Narberth School Board at its regular meeting. The budget for the school year of 1931-32 was also approved.

Recreation Board Meets

At a meeting of the Recreation Board held last week plans for the summer were discussed. Arrangements were made for the personnel for the playgrounds. The tennis courts on the Community Playground were opened Monday. In addition to weekdays they will be open Sunday from 1 to 7 P. M.

Health Work Subject At Club's Meeting

Resume of Work of Child Health Center Presented by Nurse.

DR. MITCHELL SPEAKS

The Civic and Welfare Departments of the Woman's Community Club of Narberth sponsored an interesting and practical meeting at the club on Tuesday afternoon, when the Chairmen, Mrs. C. Arley Farmer and Mrs. Caryl E. Starr, presented an exhibition of the offices, equipment and methods of the Child Health Center.

Miss Mildred Martin, one of the speakers, a nurse from the Community Health and Civic Association, Ardmore, gave a resume of the work of the center which is mainly an educational project to promote the health of infants and the pre-school child and to prevent disease. This is done by teaching the mothers the principles of hygienic living which will enable them to keep their children well and give them every opportunity for normal development. Miss Martin particularly stressed the point of prenatal care, and

Would Also Include Sections of Narberth, Forest and Essex Avenues.

TALK PARKING SETBACK

A petition was presented at the public hearing last Friday night on the revised Narberth Zoning Ordinance requesting the inclusion of Windsor Avenue from Narberth to Essex and the sections of Essex, Forest and Narberth Avenues now in a residential zone, in a business district.

Signatures representing the great majority of the properties in the affected section were attached to the petition. It was signed by the following: Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Town, Narberth and Windsor; Flora I. Mueller, 117 Forest Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Munroe, 114 Forest Avenue; Dr. and Mrs. Romaine C. Hoffman, 201 Forest Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. John B. Brooks, 134 North Narberth Avenue, and Mrs. Ida Merkle, 119 Essex Avenue, and 144 North Narberth Avenue.

If this petition is considered favorably by Council it will mean the extension of the central business district to and across Windsor Avenue and 150 to 200 feet across Essex and Narberth Avenues.

The question of property values seems to be the motivating force in the new petition, one of the signers pointing out that her home is now unsuited for residential purposes because of the growth of the business section on the side streets. While some of the petitioners do not have the idea of selling their properties immediately for business, they do not wish to have their hands tied in case they have the opportunity to dispose of them advantageously.

One property owner, J. J. Cabrey, whose residence would probably come within the business zone, if it is so extended, stated that "he hadn't thought much about the matter but would be sorry to see the peaceful

L. M. Downs Haverford High on Track Wednesday

Lower Merion won a dual track meet from Haverford High School Wednesday afternoon by a margin of some twenty points or so. The way things started out it looked like a rout for Haverford, but the visitors came back strong in the distance runs and pulled their percentage up.

The surprise of the afternoon was Rockwell's 100-yard dash, beating the favorite, Forrest, by a couple of strides. Jackson, ebony Junior, also beat out Forrest in the century by some scant inches to take second place. This boy Jackson, incidentally, scored seven points for Coach Adam, taking second in the 220 and third in the broad jump. This is his first baptism in the scoring business, but he is improving rapidly and will make a valuable man for Adam next season.

Meeks took first in the 220 for Lower Merion, Meyers first in the 120 high hurdles, Johnson won the broad jump, Parkinson the 220 low hurdles and Sigel the discus. The high jump was a tie between Woods, of Lower Merion, and Stutz and Horter, of Haverford. Muller won the pole vault after a tight tussle with Righter, of Lower Merion, who went eleven feet. Hoffman, of the Red and Gold, won the mile, Forrest the shot put and Courbis the 440.

Haverford Loses on Track

Haverford College track men were swamped by William and Mary College last Friday afternoon, 82½ to 43½. Strength in the javelin, pole vault, half mile and 220-yard dash enabled the Southern college to walk away with the meet after the teams were within two points of a tie score at the end of the first nine events.

Lose Net Matches

The Haverford College tennis team met two reverses during the past week. Last Thursday Hampden-Sydney walked off with a match by a 6-3 score, and on Monday Villanova's netmen won a close verdict, 4 matches to 3. In the feature match Captain Jack Gray, of Haverford, defeated Captain Sol Berman, of Villanova, 6-1, 8-6.

'East Lynne' at Narberth; 'Rango,' 'Cimarron' Coming

Ann Harding, one of the stage's and screen's greatest, is at Narberth's theatre this week-end in "East Lynne," a beautiful and moving story. Aiding her are Clive Brook and Conrad Nagle. At a matinee performance this Saturday Rube Goldberg's comedy, "Soup to Nuts," will amuse.

"Rango," which ranks with "Trader Horn" as one of the two truly great screen stories of jungle life, will be at Narberth Monday and Tuesday, evenings and matinees, both days. Very much worth seeing.

Edmund Lowe and Jeanette MacDonald give a highly pleasing and amusing performance in "Don't Bet on Women," the comedy coming to Narberth next Wednesday and Thursday. Accompanying the feature is another in the Music Master series—this one about "Liszt."

And next week-end the feature will be "Cimarron," much-praised screen version of Edna Ferber's great novel.

At the Egyptian

"Dracula," exciting screen version of the sensational stage mystery, is at the Egyptian Theater this Friday and Saturday nights, but not at the Saturday children's party, when a picture more suited for boys and girls will be shown. Also on the week-end program are a new Farrell golf picture, a "Mickey Mouse" comedy and an "Our Gang" comedy.

Splendid singing and photography feature "New Moon," the story of love, adventure and intrigue in Russia, which is coming to the Egyptian next Monday and Tuesday. Lawrence Tibbett, operatic baritone, who made a hit in "Rogue Song," and Grace Moore, operatic soprano whose first screen appearance was in "A Lady's Morals," sing the original Sigmund Romberg songs from the stage production, including "Lover Come Back to Me." The supporting cast includes the capable Adolphe Menjou.

Comedians George Sidney and Charlie Murray will appear in another of their travel comedies when "The Cohens and Kellys in Africa" comes to the Cynwyd Theater next Wednesday and Thursday.

Power of the press pitted against gangdom is told in "Dance, Fools, Dance," Joan Crawford's new film at the Egyptian next Friday and Saturday. Harry Beaumont directed the film from the Chicago gangster story by Auranla Rouverol. Lester Vail, Cliff Edwards, William Bakewell and Natalie Moorhead are among those in the cast.

Tennis Team Victorious Over Haverford School

The Lower Merion tennis team beat the Haverford School team in a practice match at the Narberth Tennis Club on Monday afternoon. Although the match was not a scheduled one for either team, it proved as exciting as any interscholastic match. In two hard sets, Hunter Lott, captain of the Lower Merion squad, beat William Tilden, 3d, of Haverford School, by scores of 6-0, 7-5. The second of Haverford School's pride, Bill Dyer, was taken over by Charles Lueders, of Lower Merion, in three sets, 6-1, 2-6, 6-2, while Tuttle, of Haverford School, beat Johnny Eaton, Lower Merion, 3-6, 6-1, 6-2. Brown, of Haverford School, was victorious over Rucker, of Lower Merion, 6-0, 6-3. The last of the singles matches was won by Bill Ramsay, of Lower Merion, and this match carried one of the highest scores in interscholastic circles for a long time. His scores were 12-14, 6-3, 6-2.

In the doubles, the two schools broke even, Lower Merion winning the first match with its team, Horace Dolan and Arthur LeCour, 7-5, 1-6, 6-3. The last match was won by Fentress and Condon, of Haverford School, over Wickham and Moore, of Lower Merion, 6-4, 10-8.

CONSTRUCTIVE criticism — of Bala-Cynwyd and of its community paper—is appreciated.

Junior Club Holds Spring Party Tonight

'Mother's Day' Party Planned for Next Thursday as Season Nears Close.

EXPOUND JUNIOR IDEA

Tonight the Junior Community Club is holding its spring card party in the Legion Room of the Community Building and a large gathering of members, "husbands" and friends is expected. Mrs. Harold Griest, with the assistance of a capable committee, has made extensive plans to contribute to the success of the affair, and everyone who is able will surely want to be among those present.

Next week the usual Thursday night meeting will take the form of a "Mother's Day" party and an enjoyable mother-and-daughter evening is anticipated. The program includes a dance by talented Ruth Hollar, a song—or more—by Mrs. Cletus A. Senft, and a playlet by four club members, the cast including Mrs. Ellsworth Clark, Miss Virginia Burgstesser, Miss Martha Maxwell and Mrs. James D. Moore. Mrs. Clark is acting as coach, and under her direction "Their Husbands," as the title reads, will doubtless be well presented. Refreshments will be served, with "souvenirs" for the mothers.

The club season is drawing to a close, leaving a very successful year in its wake, and already the new officers-to-be are formulating plans for a bigger than ever club in the fall. The Junior Club offers a splendid opportunity for young women who enjoy club activities, but are restricted because of day-time jobs from attendance at the Senior Club meetings held always during the day. The evening meetings of the Juniors open the pleasures of friendly social gatherings and educational and cultural programs to a congenial group which should expand in numbers with each successive season. An interesting party in honor of prospective members will take place in the early fall—but more about that at a more pertinent time. Sufficient to suggest that if you are club-minded at all, or interested in joining the activities of other young women of sympathetic tastes and inclinations you inquire into the possibilities offered by membership in the Junior Club.

Mrs. Brown Again Heads L. M.-Narberth Council

The Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women unanimously elected Mrs. H. Tatnall Brown, of Haverford, president for the third consecutive year at the annual meeting held on Monday afternoon in the Township Building at Ardmore. Mrs. Morris Green, of Ardmore, was elected first vice president; Mrs. Theodore Benade, of Cynwyd, second vice president; Mrs. George F. Pettinos, of Merion, third vice president, and Mrs. W. Russell Green, of Narberth, fourth vice president. The following were elected officers: Mrs. J. Folwell Scull, of Bala, recording secretary; Mrs. H. T. Leedom, of Ardmore, corresponding secretary, and Miss Margaret Brusstar, of Bryn Mawr, treasurer. plan to come and spend the day.

Many Narberth Boys in Parade Tomorrow

Scout Troop to Participate in Activities of Boy Week at Wayne.

HAVE HOBBY DISPLAY

Over 125 Narberth boys will participate in the Main Line Boy Week parade and picnic tomorrow at Wayne, climaxing one of the most interesting week's activities in the interest of boys.

Private automobiles will carry the boys to Wayne. They will be headed with a detachment of mounted State Police. The start will be from the public school building. The cars will travel to Wynnewood, thence up the Lincoln Highway. Each automobile will be marked with a placard reading "Narberth."

Narberth's place in the parade will be second in line, following the Valley Forge military band. The local Boy Scout troop will carry the colors. Each boy in line will wear the Main Line Boy week button, to which will be attached a piece of blue ribbon as an identification among the 1000 boys who will take part.

Display Fine Hobbies

Through the courtesy of the Narberth Hardware Company, the hobby contest exhibit is being displayed in the large center show window on Haverford Avenue. Three prizes have been given for the winners. First prize, donated by the Narberth Theatre, is a book of ten "movie" tickets. Second prize, a Scout knife, donated by the Ricklin store, and third prize a league baseball, donated by the Narberth Hardware Company. The decision of the judges will be announced on Saturday. The winners will be entitled to enter their hobby displays in the Main Line contest at Wayne on Saturday afternoon, for which suitable prizes will also be awarded.

The Week's Activities

Last Sunday each of the local churches devoted some time during the morning services to the subject of Boy Week. A special church service was devoted exclusively to boys by Rev. John Van Ness in the Presbyterian Church as well as the Sunday School. In addition, a father and son dinner was served there last evening at which Harvey Harman was the principal speaker.

Owing to the fact that the Scout mothers gave a play and entertainment in the social rooms of the Methodist Church it was not possible, this year, to have the Scouts conduct the council committee meeting as has been the practice for a number of years. The conflict of dates made it necessary to forego this activity which is usually of keen interest to the troop.

There will be a marble contest for the Main Line boys at Wayne tomorrow in connection with the parade and picnic. In this, the winner of the tournament recently conducted by the public school will be entitled to take part.

Following the parade in Wayne, all of the boys who take part will assemble on the Radnor High School grounds where they will witness a dress parade of the boys from the Valley Forge Military School. Luncheon will be served and then a full program of picnic sports will be launched, which will occupy the entire afternoon.

Plan Luncheon Wednesday

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Narberth Presbyterian Church are holding a luncheon on Wednesday, May 13, at 1 P. M. at the church. This luncheon will take the place of the regular business meeting. The speaker will be Mrs. F. M. Paist, a member of the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church. All the members of the society, also church

Music

The Redwood String Quartet of the Main Line Orchestra, appearing in a Schubert-Dvorak program at the Ardmore Theatre on Sunday evening, May 10, will have its first public appearance. Other intimate recitals of this group are promised for the 1931-32 season. Subscription tickets are on sale at Azpell's Music Store, 44 West Lancaster Avenue, Ardmore, or the Ardmore Theatre.

The Main Line Orchestra, under the direction of Adolph Vogel, will give the last concert of the season on Sunday evening, May 24, at the Ardmore Theatre.

Harry Wilson, brilliant concert pianist of Wayne, won an unusually high honor last Monday evening in Philadelphia when he was chosen the victor in an open competition for the Annual Gold Medal Award for piano playing. Mr. Wilson was the winner of a beautiful gold medal which was donated by the Philadelphia Musical Academy. Out of a large number of contestants, Mr. Wilson's brilliant and artistic performance was immediately recognized and appreciated. His victory was one of unanimous consent. As his contest number Mr. Wilson played the great work of Bach-Tansig, "Toccata and Fugue in D minor." The composition was originally composed for the pipe organ and it is familiar to all Philadelphia Orchestra concertgoers in its effective orchestral transcription by Leopold Stokowski. It has been arranged for the piano by Busoni and by Carl Tansig, the latter arrangement used by Harry Wilson. In his interpretation Mr. Wilson faithfully carried out the classical traditions, playing in the true Bach style and at the same time he gave the work a certain heroic quality.

On May 8 and 9 in Goodhart Hall at 8:20 P. M. the Bryn Mawr College Glee Club will present "The Mikado" (Gilbert and Sullivan). The chorus consists of 70 voices, and the entire cast are also members of the Glee Club. Mr. F. H. Ernest Willoughby, associate in the music department, is the musical director and conductor for this production.

NEWS SHORTS

New faces on force. Rookies added to the Lower Merion Police force on Friday were John Boyd, of Ardmore; John Tierney and James Smythe, both of Narberth.

Officers installed. Officers of Ascension Commandery, No. 97, Knights Templar of Pennsylvania, installed at ceremonies held recently in Masonic Hall are: Guy B. Wheeler, eminent commander; F. William Pyle, generalissimo; John McMahon, captain general; Clayton Wyker, treasurer; Lyman Hutton, recorder; William Wayne and Sir Arthur Ward, trustees.

Takes a vacation. Magistrate Franklin Kromer, of Lower Merion Township, left last week-end for a short fishing trip after ending his three months' period of service as magistrate at the Ardmore police station. With Dr. Charles Seidel, a member of the Lower Merion Township Board of Commissioners, and Clifford Rogers, president of the Suburban Construction Company, he went down to Virginia waters to fish.

Magistrate Cronin on bench. On Friday Magistrate Thomas Cronin took over his duties at the Ardmore police station for May, June and July.

In auto crash. Frank B. Foster, Jr., 25, of Rose Lane, Haverford, had his nose broken when the car which he was driving crashed into that of H. G. Reeves, 3 Winsor Avenue, Narberth, near Montgomery Avenue and Hansel Road, Haverford, on Saturday morning. The latter was driving out of a private driveway into Montgomery Avenue when the accident occurred.

Do We Need a Thirty-Foot Road?

Residents of the Main Line are still in the dark concerning the fate of Gulph Road. The original plans of the Lower Merion highway department called for a 30-foot road, straight as an arrow, between Morris Avenue and Roberts Road. Hundreds of residents are opposed to the sacrifice of rustic beauty for a type of efficiency which does not seem warranted.

The work has not been started, and no final decision has been rendered either way. The Township still sticks to the 30-foot idea, but is willing to change the route slightly to save a few trees; the protesting residents still are of the belief that a 24-foot highway will serve the needs for many years to come.

Despite the sincere and capable opinion of the highway department that efficiency demands a wide road, the matter is open to serious question. Gulph Road is a wooded, attractive route much used as a relief road for Montgomery Avenue. It leaves Montgomery Avenue at Haverford and joins it again at Gulph Mills. It should be well-paved and properly graded. But must it be a speedway?

The stretch in question lies back of Bryn Mawr College. On the other side is the wooded Vaux property and the Lower Merion Baptist Church. The creation of a wide road, no matter how it may be dodged around, means the destruction of some old trees, and the substitution of raw clay shoulders for the present attractive and naturally-landscaped sides.

Present traffic does not seem to show any need for an exceptionally wide road. There is no parking problem and no need for great speed, for Montgomery Avenue is a wide, through highway, and may be further widened if future traffic demands it. Would it not be more in keeping with the spirit of the Main Line to have this road slightly less efficient and slightly more attractive?

This problem must be met and solved, for other roads are involved beside the one in question. The Main Line communities have a duty to through traffic in providing a certain number of high-speed trunk highways, if these are not already taken care of by State and highway. Why not keep our secondary roads attractive? There is nothing to prevent a widening in the future if the need arises; in the meantime, the trees and shrubs can beautify the landscape.

Hundreds of petitioners have expressed themselves on the subject. Many of these are from Haverford and Radnor Townships, and the Lower Merion authorities feel that they should have no voice in the matter. But a road is used by all, and the suburban character of the Main Line is not subject to political divisions.

Motorists, save in intercity travel, do not object to curves and grades, trees and shrubs. If efficiency and speed are the only factors to be considered, let us suggest to Philadelphia that the winding roads of Fairmount Park be made into graded concrete ribbons, so as to save the business man a half-minute of travel.

This is a case where haste should be made slowly. Once the damage is done, it is done. Let us consider all sides of the question.

The Police Pension Fund

The annual appeal has again been sent out to residents of Lower Merion and Narberth for support of the Police Pension Fund.

Formed in May, 1925, by a small group of public spirited citizens who believed "that their faithful policemen should be afforded protection against old age and the risk of disability in such a hazardous occupation," this association has come to number fifteen hundred residents.

The income producing principal of this fund on December 31, 1930, amounted to $110,982.94. Two widows of policemen and one retired officer are now receiving support from the organization, according to Evan L. James, secretary-treasurer.

Due to the ever-increasing police force and the fact that many years are required to create a fund sufficient to care for all who will be eligible, continued public support is essential.

Checks should be made payable to the "Police Pension Fund" and sent to Evan L. James, treasurer, Township Building, Ardmore.

Main Lines

The advocacy by certain residents of Wynnewood of a new name for Wynnewood Avenue from the Pennsylvania railroad tunnel to Montgomery Avenue, has brought to light some historical information relative to the original names of roads in that vicinity.

A road was laid out by the early settlers from Merion Meeting to Haverford Meeting. This followed roughly the line of the present Haverford Avenue in Narberth, ran along the edge of Miss Mary Gibson's estate in Wynnewood, and emerged at about the Wynnewood station to coincide with the present Wynnewood Road which continues on the other side of Lancaster Pike after a bit of a break.

Wynnewood Avenue, so the legend runs, was an entirely distinct road, laid out from Montgomery Pike (the old Lancaster Road) to City Line, connecting with roads to the city. This was named after Thomas Wynne, one of the early settlers in Wynnewood, whose house still stands on Montgomery Avenue.

Thus it would seem that if any road name is to be changed it should be the extension of Wynnewood Road, from the railroad tunnel to Lancaster Pike, and not the section from the tunnel to Montgomery which was the original Wynnewood Road. This, of course, would necessitate the application of the new name or another one to the remainder of Wynnewood Road on the south side of Lancaster Pike. We do not favor, however, the name of Gypsy Lane for that part of Wynnewood Avenue from the tunnel to Montgomery. It is far too nice a street to bear such a "arty" name.

This is the true and unvarnished account of the shooting of the eagle near Eagle Road and the old Eagle (now Manoa) Inn in the section once known as Eagle and now called Manoa. (It's lucky it wasn't the Bull Inn.)

On Tuesday last the eagle eye of the dean of the Main Line newspaper correspondents discovered what he considered a good hot tip on a story in a local publication. A one-stick story told of the slaying of a gigantic eagle by one John Trout. (No, friends, this ain't a fish story, too.)

The newshound (so-called) thought the paper played the story down. Here was a chance to scoop 'em on their own stuff! He verified the fact that an eagle had actually been shot, and with the diligent and dogged Frank Hanlon in tow, visited the scene of the shooting.

The first version of the tale, obtained at the inn, was to the effect that the bird had been brought down in the inn yard after being wounded on John Trout's little farm a quarter of a mile west on the West Chester pike. A visit to the Trout homestead resulted in the following: A boy said the eagle had been brought down in a field east of the house.

John Trout emerged still chewing his supper and said, No, he had shot it in a field west of the house. He had been troubled by a neighbor's chickens scratching up his cabbage plants and when he saw this big chicken stalking across the field he had let go at it.

Bob MacFarlane, game warden, troubled by the fact that the eagle was of the species that appears on the seal of the United States and was, therefore, more or less sacred, made an investigation. And the doggedly diligent Frank Hanlon appears in the office of the Main Line School of Journalism out of breath and full of enthusiasm some hours later and tells the story anew. It seems that by 9 or 10 o'clock that night the first version was changed to read: Father Slays Eagle About to Attack Five-Year-Old Child.

And that, dearly beloved, is the true account of John Trout and the Eagle—a tale to be told over the fire o' nights when the wind howls in the chimney and the sleet beats against the window panes.

Chevrolet

has struck a popular new note in motor-car styling

Chevrolet's front-end ensemble is a fine example of the latest trend in modern design

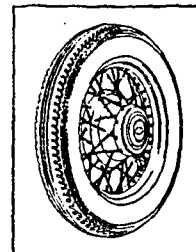

Many factors have contributed to the remarkably wide-spread popularity of the new Chevrolet Six. Among these are smooth performance, low price, matchless economy, exceptional riding ease and driving comfort. But no feature has been more strikingly evident in the enthusiastic public reception of the car than its smart new style.

Fisher Body craftsmen, with their background of fine-car designing, have made this new Chevrolet an exceptionally attractive automobile. Study it from any angle and you find it extremely pleasing. Look at it from the front and you are impressed by the modish ensemble of deep radiator, large headlamps and arched tie bar—all gleaming in rich chromium plate. Viewed from the side, the long hood, low-swung body lines, sweeping fenders and massive wire wheels strikingly suggest the car's fleetness and power. And the appeal of Chevrolet's beauty is made more pronounced by the fact that all models are available in a variety of colors.

Interiors, too, are unusual in every way. The upholstery is carefully tailored. Seats are roomy, deeply cushioned and invitingly soft. And the interiors are tastefully appointed.

An important factor in Chevrolet's smart appearance is the de luxe wire wheels with forty steel spokes and massive chrome-plated hub caps

In fact, the new Chevrolet Six is such a thoroughly fine-looking automobile that it has become a very popular choice with every type of buyer. You find it not only the smart family car, but the smart personal car as well—a worthy companion to the expensive automobiles of the two- and three-car household.

This emblem—Body by Fisher—is a symbol of superior body craftsmanship—exclusive with Chevrolet in the low-price field

Lower Merion's Ranking Scholars

Fernanda Amadio (left) and Whitfield J. Bell, Jr., of Ardmore and Narberth, respectively, who were announced last week as Valedictorian and Salutatorian of the class of 1931.

Lower Merion's Highest Ranking Students Are Very Active in Many Different Fields

With the computation of senior class averages at Lower Merion High School, it was announced last week that Fernanda Amadio, of Ardmore, and Whitfield J. Bell, Jr., of Narberth, would be valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively, of this year's graduating class.

Miss Amadio, whose scholastic average was 92.3, is a product of the Lower Merion School system. Conscientious in everything she does, Miss Amadio has directed several plays presented by the French Club and was co-director of the Public Speaking Department play, "The Dear Departed." She is also active in debating, a member of the Spelling Club, Forum, Spanish and French Clubs and of the girls' basketball team. She expects to teach languages.

Bell, whose average was 91.6, attended grammar schools in Plainfield and Montclair, N. J. Literary editor of "The Merionite," the high school paper, he is active in debating, is a member of the Forum, Hi-Y and participated in the play, "God Winks." His hobby is the American Revolution.

After graduation he plans to attend Dickinson College at Carlisle and take up the study of law.

State Highway Patrol to War on Glaring Headlights

A Statewide campaign against glaring automobile headlights will be carried on throughout the month, according to information received by the Keystone Automobile Club from Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Eynon.

All available officers of the State Highway Patrol will be used in the drive, and no excuses will be taken from motorists who drive with only one headlamp lighted.

"Commissioner Eynon informs us," said J. R. Murphy, manager of Ardmore office, "that the law will be strictly enforced. He particularly is anxious to curb the 'one-eyed' car, which is an acknowledged menace to users of the highway."

"Motorists with glaring headlights will be stopped by the patrol and notified to have adjustments made within 48 hours. If the certificates covering adjustments from an official headlight station are not received within five days, prosecution will be entered against offending motorists."

prominence in the world trade and political situation.

The Child Health Centre, which was started by the Club, but which receives part of its maintenance from the Borough Council, has done particularly fine work. It cares for the pre-school age child and at the present time the centre is supervising the diet and care of about 200 children. It is open on Wednesdays from 2 until 3 all the year round. It is manned by volunteers, with Dr. Mitchell in attendance once a week.

Another achievement the club is proud of is the writing of fifteen volumes in Braille by Mrs. Harriet Miesus.

One of the most important pieces of work done during Mrs. Green's tenure of office was the revision of the Constitution of the club. A revision board made up largely of past presidents studied each article of the Constitution and changed those that they felt should be revised to make the work of the club more coherent.

This year two committees have been performing Trojan service to help meet the unemployment situation. The Civic and Welfare Departments, which this year have been combined, as their work has more or less overlapped, have collected clothes for the unemployed. Mrs. C. Arley Farmer and Mrs. Cary Starr are joint chairmen of this committee. The American Home Department under Mrs. E. S. Deubler has been sewing for the unemployed.

Each year the club takes care of the American Red Cross drive in Narberth with Mrs. H. A. Jacobs in charge of this work. Just recently the Sub-Juniors has made a donation of money to the Crossnore School in North Carolina and to Narberth Hall. Mrs. W. H. Miller is the senior adviser and Miss Katherine Jane Miller is the president of this group.

Among the other outstanding activities of the club has been the work of the Conservation Committee, of which Mrs. Mary Livingston is the chairman. This committee planned a bird conservation program and sponsored a bird exhibit which was displayed in the window of the Narberth Coal Company.

The Drama Department, Mrs. Henry Frye, chairman, presented a most successful play, "The Whole Town's Talking," which was repeated for the benefit of the Narberth baseball team. The literature section of which Mrs. William Lewis is chairman made contributions to the Bryn Mawr Library. Other committees which have presented programs throughout the two years of Mrs. Green's presidency are: music, Mrs. Fred Kuebler, Jr., chairman; legislation, Mrs. Leroy C. Douglass, chairman; art, Mrs. Franklin P. Dunlap, chairman, and fellowship, Mrs. Le Roy A. King, chairman.

Other active chairmen have been Miss Florence Pray, programs; Mrs. C. J. Goodyear, membership; Mrs. George N. Gill, housing and hospitality; Mrs. Charles H. Fernald, publicity. Mrs. Bernard Keenan is senior adviser for the Juniors and Mrs. Clifford D. Goodwin is the president.

Mrs. Green will not stop her interest in organized club work—and she feels that the women "can do more if they are organized"—for on Monday she was elected fourth vice president of the Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women. She is a graduate of the Home Economics department of Temple University; a member of Merion Friends' Meeting and in the summer is on the executive staff of Chester County Girl Scout Camp at Oxford, Pa.; has two children, Kitty Trudell, age 11, and Stanley Mahlon, age 8, who are pupils at Friends' Central School, in which Mrs. Green is much interested, and her home town is Sellersville, Pa.

Shaw's 'Apple Cart' Now at the Library

At last, "The Apple Cart," by George Bernard Shaw. When the Theatre Guild was presenting the play at the Garrick Theatre this past season, many were the requests at the library for a copy of the text. At that time, however, the only printed form was in a thirty-volume edition of Shaw's collected works at by far a greater sum per volume than the library can even consider. Fortunately the play has recently been issued in a book by itself and within reasonable financial limits, and the library wishes to announce its arrival.

"The Apple Cart" as theatregoers will recall was projected into the future at a time when "all people now living are dead," and since it deals with controversial problems, this was a wise provision of the astute dramatist. Shaw's implied criticism of the use of the franchise, his satire on the vices of a pseudo-democracy, and his veiled suggestion of the dominating influence of America upon European countries are very provocative aspects of the play, and together with the sub-title led critics to ask Mr. Shaw if he were really serious in writing it. Mr. Shaw replied, "So seriously that I shall tell Mr. MacDonald that he must refuse to take into his cabinet any young man who has not seen it at least six times."

'TIME OUT'

By TOMMY MACKLIN

With Ruby Taylor definitely better, we can now go on with our daily work without disturbance.

We wasted so much sympathy on Amos the first of the week that it took us several days to recover our equilibrium.

Jack Muller, of Haverford High School, is guilty of the finest bit of individual effort contributed during the past week. Jack pole-vaulted 11 feet 9 inches to break a record at the Swarthmore meet Saturday. If that boy keeps it up, Yale may not hold the world record many years.

The young stripling from Haverford should do twelve feet before school is over this year.

Wilson Meeks, of Lower Merion, is improving rapidly as a sprinter—getting faster with each race. Rockwell has been faster all season until the last few races and the former took first place in the Swarthmore meet Saturday.

Louis Meyers again placed in the 120 high hurdles in an important meet. Louis is not only a consistent second placer in this difficult event, but he stands very, very high in his studies.

Lower Merion crashed through in quite an impressive manner Saturday. The Senior High won at Swarthmore, the Junior High took both running events at Bethlehem, and the Junior High fencing team brought back a victory from Philadelphia.

Mongiello, the Radnor pitcher and friend of Jimmy Turner, of Bryn Mawr, is twirling first-class ball for the Wayne High School this spring. He allowed Media only six hits Tuesday, but lost 3 to 2.

Bill Anderson is working hard to make a winning combination out of the Lower Merion ball club, but finds that ivory is a valuable product only when found growing on elephants' heads.

H. B. WALL

Bill is planning to play the team's one bad inning a game on off days when games are not scheduled. If he can arrange to do this he will yet win the Suburban League title.

With the exception of the first inning in Tuesday's game with Upper Darby, the Maroon looked like a wonderful baseball club. They pulled a couple of fast double plays and were aggressive on the base paths and on defense. Johnny Brennan is playing a beautiful game at short on the sure ones, but is yet a little green on getting the hard shots to right and left.

Emmett Wynn is playing a real fine game at second and at bat. He is one of the most valuable men that Anderson has on his squad.

Chuck Hutton's Junior High relay team, after dropping two hard-luck decisions to Upper Darby at the Meadowbrook and Penn relays, came to on Saturday and showed their speed to the neighbors in both the half mile and quarter mile relays at Bethlehem. The Orange and Black was at least fifteen yards ahead at the tape in both events.

LATE ADDITIONS

By TOMMY MACKLIN

Important side lights from the Lower Merion high schools during the past week include Jim Davis' golf team in a heroic role as the five members downed the hitherto undefeated Jenkintown champions four to three on Monday afternoon at the Philmont Country Club. Jenkintown's excellent golf team included one of the medal winners in one of the Philadelphia Junior tournaments last season; so the victory of Lower Merion's team is all the more noteworthy. This is the first loss for the boys from Jenkintown for over a year.

The members of Davis' squad include Ball, Beyer, E. Wynn, Brubaker, Braid and Winthrop. Ball and Beyer are the aces of the outfit, and Wynn and Brubaker are the two next in line. Braid and Winthrop alternate in fifth position.

The team has won from Lansdowne, Upper Darby and Jenkintown and lost to Haverford.

Coach "Chuck" Hutton, who teaches History at the Junior High School for a business and coaches the track team as a hobby, is equally proficient in both. He is a graduate of Maine University and a classmate of Rudy Vallee, but neither of these facts seems to have done him much harm. As an ensign in the navy during the war Hutton imbibed many traits of character which make him an excellent leader of boys, and a fine trainer of track athletes. A three-letter man at college, a national champion in cross-country in 1924 and a successful track coach at West Chester High School, the lean leader has developed a fine group of athletes at the Junior High School this spring.

His relay team consisting of Buck, Kohler, Matheys and Graham ran away from the field at the State championships at Bethlehem on Saturday and brought back two cups emblematic of the best in their class in the Commonwealth. This relay team is faster than the record-breaking four of last year, and should set up a new record before the suburban season is over.

Lower Merion High School came through at the Swarthmore Interscholastics last Saturday, and Coach Adam again is in a good position to finish a successful track season this year.

Louis Meyers placed second in the 120 high hurdles, the first event on the program. Following this Buck, Meeks and Sigel took firsts in the half mile, 220 and discus throw, respectively, and Pennypacker placed second in the pole vault behind Muller's record-breaking vault, Taylor a third in the broad jump, Rockwell and Meeks third and fourth in the hundred, Sigel fourth in the shotput, Parkinson fourth in the low hurdles and Friburger and Ridge placed fractions in the pole vault.

Miss Carolyn Schell took the Lower Merion Junior High fencing team into Philadelphia Saturday and took a close tournament from Woodrow Wilson Junior High, 4 to 2. Dunlap, Ewald, deBeausset and Rose represented Lower Merion with the latter as alternate.

Each boy had to battle with each of his adversaries, so there was plenty of action. With the score tied Dunlap won the final bout. This is the first scheduled fencing bout in Junior High School competition as far as we can ascertain.

Lower Merion Seniors to Give Mystery Play

An excellent cast chosen from the senior class of Lower Merion High School will present the mystery play, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," in the Senior High auditorium this Friday and Saturday nights, at 8 o'clock. The tickets may be purchased at the high school or from any member of the senior class.

The play, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," was originally written as a novel by a master mystery writer, Earl Derr Biggers. Afterwards, George Coh n dramatized it and made of it one of Broadway's greatest successes. The story deals with a popular fiction novelist who makes a wager with a friend that he can write a mystery novel in twenty-four hours. His friend sends him to Baldpate Mountain with the only key to an old summer hotel where he can write the novel undisturbed. He is disturbed, however, by the arrival one after another of strange people, all of whom have a key which they think is the only one in existence. The novelist is caught in a plot and murder more melodramatic than the stories he has written. The outcome is entirely unexpected.

Miss Sheely, an English teacher, is coaching the play daily. She is developing interesting new settings and unusual lighting effects.

Narberth Girl's Verse in College Anthology

Miss Elma L. Reese, of 219 Hampden Avenue, Narberth, is a contributor to a recently published anthology, "Best College Verse: 1931," by Harper & Bros. The volume contains about two hundred and fifty poems representing one hundred and twenty-five colleges. Four thousand two hundred poems from two hundred and fifty colleges were submitted. Her poem, "Alternative," is one of two poems representing Temple University.

Miss Reese, a junior in Teachers' College, is secretary of the Magnet Honorary Society, treasurer of the Women's Athletic Association and a member of the Executive Council of the Secondary Education Department.

One Bad Inning Fatal to Lower Merion Nine

After a week's layoff, the Lower Merion baseball team returned to its schedule Tuesday afternoon to lose a game to Upper Darby on Pennypacker Field by the score of 7 to 3. Again it was one bad inning which did the trick. This time the first inning of the game proved the undoing of Anderson's nine. Lefty Thomas was unable to fool the visiting batsmen at the start of hostilities and with three runs in and the bases loaded he was replaced by Bob Odiorne, who pitched sterling ball for eight and two-thirds innings. Two earned runs were made off of the Narberth righthander's delivery, but the rest of the game he was poison to the visitors.

Lower Merion threatened in the first inning, but every hard-hit ball traveled directly into the hands of a visiting infielder and the side was retired with a couple of men hanging on the bases.

In the eighth inning Lower Merion's only productive stanza, Seaver Rose brought in two runs with his massive homer down the left field foul line. The homelings hit for a total of ten safeties, but could not produce bingles with men in scoring position. Stoughton, of Upper Darby, pitched a good, steady game, particularly in the pinches.

A Page of Local Home and Garden Information

By ROBERT J. EDGAR

An unusual spring season. First two weeks of premature dry warmth to start trees and shrubs into leaf and then two weeks of cool days and cold nights to hold them in check. A long spring but perhaps better than a sudden jump from winter to summer. There is a deficiency in rainfall of three inches since January first to May second. This with a shortage of six inches last summer means that we will have to watch our trees closely as they are deeper rooting than our garden flowers.

In a charming old garden with great old trees, huge boxwoods and fine clumps of old lilacs we found large patches of diminutive yellow tulips which had seeded and naturalized themselves in several places. They were identified as tulip sylvestris, the wild tulip of England, and were the perfect companions for nearby patches of common blue violets. Mrs. Wilder's description of this tulip would almost tempt us to pawn the radio—"or sumphthin."

Another intriguing subject from old gardens is the "Johnnie Jump Up," that little viola that seeds itself all over but is always welcome. Watch for an opportunity to acquire "Johnnies" at the plant sales as few plant-men offer them.

While most shrubs are best pruned directly after flowering they should really be shaped and dead wood removed. The forsythia is one that will stand cutting of entire stems, but be careful of lilacs. Lilacs flower on two-year-old wood and only the very long stems should be cut to keep the flowers from getting out of reach, leaving the greater part of the lower branches to develop buds for two years hence.

Considering insect sprays it is necessary to know the habits of the insect in question. Is it a sucking insect or a leaf-eating, or chewing, insect? For sucking insects such as aphids or hatched scale insects we may use a contact spray which kills by contact. For chewing insects a stomach poison is the only effective control. They eat the poisoned leaf and are no more.

If the life of the insect is comparatively short, or at least its season of destructive work is short, it may be controlled by a single application of spray; the Elm Leaf Beetle is typical of such control.

The Japanese beetle is a real pest. The adults feed on foliage and flowers over a season of almost three months. While the beetle can be fought with contact insecticides it would be necessary to touch each beetle with the spray and that would mean to spray every day. It is true that the beetle will not eat a white-coated leaf. Application of flour or lime will be washed off by rains so that this means respray after every shower. While this may protect the foliage it will not kill beetles.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has made exhaustive tests and recommends that foliage of trees and shrubs be sprayed with coated arsenate of lead in late June, at the time the adult beetles start to fly. A second spray may be necessary about two weeks later, but the coated lead will adhere to the foliage for the entire season under ordinary conditions. This is a stomach poison to the insect and many hundreds of thousands of gallons have been used to protect foliage and kill beetles with little, if any, danger to birds, dogs or pet animals. Birds do not eat foliage, dogs do not eat foliage. Dogs sometimes eat grass, but if grass should be sprayed under trees or shrubs it should be mowed promptly or wet down with a hose so that the spray cannot do any possible harm.

Rock Garden Planting

By W. O. HIRD

An attractively arranged rock garden is an asset to any garden and will probably arouse more admiring comment than any other feature. Unfortunately, not everyone takes the care and patience that is really necessary to produce the desired artistic effect. To make the rock garden something more than merely a "rock pile," a regular layout should be followed in the planting. The plants make the garden, not the rocks, and the plants should cover the rocks.

Now is the ideal time to plant. Be sure that the crevices between the rocks are of sufficient width to permit plenty of root growth for the plants. At the time of planting, humus and peat moss should be incorporated in the soil so the plants will have plenty of moisture and become thoroughly established. A sunny position for the rock garden is by far the best.

The final appearance of the garden will, of course, depend upon the selection of the plants. In the perennials there are aquilegia, arabis, alyssum, armeria, dwarf hardy asters, carnations, dianthus (or hardy pinks), cerastium, fever few, dwarf gypsophila, iberis, phlox, Canadian phlox, phlox subulata, heuchera, dwarf iris, sedum, myosotis (or forget-me-not), evening primrose, Iceland poppies and ranunculus.

While perennials can be used, to insure bloom throughout the season various kinds of dwarf annuals should be sown, including candytuft, dwarf marigolds, petunias, nasturtium, dwarf zinnias and other dwarf-growing plants.

Grass Roots Need Humus for Growth

Before considering the proper culture of a plant, it is logical to consider its growth habits. If you were to take up a small bit of turf and shave off a bit of the bottom, you would see how many of the roots are to be found—or, rather, NOT to be found—in the lower inch. Grass roots are not found in abundance below about three inches of the surface of the soil. The greater mass of them is found to occupy the top two inches. Below four inches the roots are few—if any. If you were to pare down this piece of turf you would find how thickly the grass roots are crowded together in the top two inches—and you would also find that the roots usually grow in a lateral manner, rather than extending downward. A marked liking for any small particles of humus or decayed vegetable matter within reach will also be noticeable.

We gather from this, therefore, that the lawn grass plants are surface feeders, both when they start, and throughout their existence. Bear this strongly in mind when starting your lawn, and keep it in mind throughout. While remembering this, don't forget how necessary it is to supply the grass roots with humus, for which they possess an unusual affinity.

Yes, Arsenate of Lead Will Kill the Beetles

And when the powder is mixed with Hyper Humus when spread on the ground, it will not endanger the lives of cats and dogs. The Hyper Humus absorbs the powder, and is not liked by animals.

Mix five pounds arsenate of lead (costing $1.75) with 200 pounds of Hyper Humus (costing $5) for 1000 square feet of lawn, and the mixture will kill beetles—and at the same time make things grow by improving the soil—for a year-and-a-half to two years.

Timely Notes for the Main Line Garden Lover

Rustic Furniture Adds Charm to Outdoor Activities, and Especially in the Garden

By ALVIN E. SHULL

As the longed-for balmy days of spring become realities, many ways are suggested to increase our enjoyment of them. 'Tis well that our entertainment is derived from different sources—golf for one, touring for another and gardening for many others. Whichever you choose, the benefit from it is dependent upon coming in constant contact with things of beauty, which automatically create a harmonious atmosphere.

The golfer goes briskly along for the first four or five holes, and in "golfing weather" has warmed up to the point of enjoying the nice, roomy, rustic summer house often found at this spot. Trudging along, he finishes the ninth, finally the eighteenth, then to the shower, a quiet smoke and perhaps a doze in the increasingly popular slanting-back lawn chair.

What pleasure can one with gardening proclivities find in garden furniture? He may be an admirer of sweet peas and wants them trained "just so" on the proper type trellis. The lover of roses, not to be outdone, wants his Paul Scarlet or American Beauty, to let their light shine out from the background of a nicely arched white arbor, pergola or even a fan trellis. The ivy and wistaria, as they find their way up the side of the house, need the support of lattice to make their future secure—all tending to make the general environment more pleasant. Let's get away for a few moments to the rippling brook, where a tempting foot bridge carries us on to unlimited possibilities of beauty.

Whether your taste leans to rustic or to the green and white effects, the benches you place in this setting will make a charming, restful picture.

Nothing has been said thus far about how the tourist could possibly be interested in gardens. How often have you, in riding along, admired the well-kept country home with the white-washed rail fences, the weather vane and bird houses? Even whitewashed fence posts and strands of wire connecting them and beautiful roses climbing over, add their touch of beauty. The disappearing billboards are being supplanted with well-designed roadside stands. This whole picture, viewing it analytically, is the transplanting to our countryside of many garden ideas and plans pent up in the minds of the city and suburban dweller.

Back home again, an ornamental white fence with wrought iron hardware on the gate beckons a welcome that only this kind of interest, planning and perseverance can foster.

Art Exhibition Held At Montgomery School

The second annual exhibition of work done in the art department at the Montgomery Country Day School was held on Wednesday afternoon from 3 until 5 in the school gymnasium. About 200 parents and friends attended the exhibition.

The studio of Montgomery School is the only art center in the Penn Valley district and courses are given there in several branches of painting, drawing and design.

Francis J. Quirk, himself an established young artist and recipient of several awards for his work, the most recent being the first prize at the Providence Art Club exhibition for work of artists under 35, is director of the art department of the school and sponsor of the exhibition of the work of his students.

About sixty boys of all ages from 8 to 18 are enrolled in the courses of this department, and the works exhibited were very representative of their creator's varying ability and talent.

The exhibition comprised the following general groups: Pencil, water color, pastel, charcoal drawings, charcoal portraits, commercial posters, sculpture, mechanical drawing, still life and block prints.

Among the work of the fourth grade boys, that of Billy Montgomery and Pemberton Drinker was outstanding. In the fifth grade exhibits by Thomas Godfrey, Dick Kimber, John Price Crozer, David Rockwell, Stockton White, Benjamin Le Boutillier and Arthur Wheeler attracted favorable comment. In the sixth grade work, that of Ernest Biddle for his fine sketches, and the delineation exhibited by John Harrison, H. C. McCall, P. T. Baltzell, Alan Cox Stokes and Degraw Warnock showed ability above the average.

In the exhibits of work of the first to third form, the pencil portraits of Lawrence La Fore and the sketches of Robert Lippincott, David Longmaid and Griscom Bettle were outstanding. Longmaid's work was also exhibited in the sculpture display, as was work by Robert Dilks, Sunny Allison and Mead Easby.

Charcoal drawings by Grellet Gibbons-Neff, a Wynnewood boy, attracted considerable notice, especially the figures and portraits.

Mechanical drawing, a new department and college entrance subject, was represented by several drawings exhibiting fine workmanship and precision. Chief among the exhibitors were Cadwalader Payne and Thorndike Williams.

A group of etchings attracted much favorable comment, especially one called "Silvery Night," which, like most of the others, was the work of Morris Lloyd, of Wynnewood, a special student who has had his drawings accepted by the McClees Gallery. A bright future for this young man has been predicted.

In the group of oils, there is one by Mr. Quirk, art director of the school, which won first prize at the Providence exhibition. Cadwalader Payne also was an exhibitor in this group with a life-like portrait.

Mrs. Gibson Bell, wife of the Rev. Gibson Bell, headmaster of the school and rector of All Saints Church, and Miss Ann C. Almy, of Ardmore, acted as hostesses. Tea was served in the gymnasium.

Little Garden Day Sale on Tuesday and Wednesday

The Little Garden Day Sale which is to be held next Tuesday and Wednesday, May 12 and 13, on the grounds of the Memorial Building at Bryn Mawr, has the promise of many fine flowers and plants from the owners of the large places. Alexander MacLeod will be on hand as consultant, and will give advice on garden problems.

A new feature this year will be a pet show, which will be held on Tuesday, weather permitting, at 4:30 P. M. Prizes and ribbons will be given for the exhibits. The classes are as follows: Largest, smallest, prettiest, most original and youngest exhibitor. This is not limited to children, as there are some older people who want to show their "pet." If it rains the pet show will be held on Wednesday at the same hour.

The usual delicious luncheon will be served by the ladies of the Westminster Circle of Narberth, also tea.

Phila. Antique Show Creates Much Comment

The second annual Philadelphia antiques exposition, conducted under auspices of the Emergency Aid of Pennsylvania, opened on Monday and will continue through tomorrow evening at the Bellevue-Stratford, with antiques valued at more than $5,000,000 on display. The exposition will continue until Saturday.

Exhibiting a variety of antiques that created much comment among viewers, the show displays examples of antique art, furniture, glassware, silverware, china, pewter, household goods and "primitives," such as crude cooking utensils.

The display teems with features. A Benjamin West portrait of George Washington, a Gilbert Stuart painting, Crown Darby china, Heppelwhite, Chippendale, Savary chairs, an English hunting bar, a bronze Chinese dagger, dated 1200 B. C., a fireplace from Leeds Castle, a chair from the Franklin homestead, old chromos and a Duncan Phyfe maple chair are a few of the highlights of the show.

Secretary Mellon is optimistic about the chances for a trade revival. That ought to mean something, for Calvin Coolidge is loquacious compared to the astute Andrew.

Haverford College students quite consistently have headed the list in brain tests given to undergraduates throughout the U. S. In spite of it, however, the alumni seem to be able to find wives and achieve the average amount of success.

Narberth School Notes

The pupils and faculty of the school invite parents and friends to attend the Field Day events and exhibition to be held Friday afternoon, May 15, at 1 o'clock. The art and school exhibit will be arranged in the gymnasium and classrooms of the primary building. It will consist of work done in all departments throughout the year. The building will also be open Friday evening for those who are unable to come during the day.

The events of the afternoon are as follows: Fourth grade, thirty-yard dash, three-legged race, shuttle relay race, standing broad jump, tug of war, dodge ball, marble spoon race, target throw; fifth grade, fifty-yard dash, three-legged race, shuttle relay, standing broad jump, dodge ball, target throw, marble spoon race; sixth grade, fifty-yard dash, relay races, potato race, high jump, broad jump, basketball, soccer, volleyball, dodge ball, hoop rolling, hockey race; seventh grade, seventy-five and fifty-yard dash, three-legged races, potato races, relay races, high and broad jump, soccer, volleyball, dodge ball, hoop rolling and basketball throw.

The school will be divided into Reds and Grays, the school colors, who will compete against each other. The team gaining the highest number of points will have its name engraved on the silver cup provided for the purpose. This cup will be used in succeeding years for the Field Day trophy.

Refreshments will be for sale on the school grounds, the proceeds being used to defray the expenses of the event.

* * *

The musical play, "Robin Hood," will be given by the pupils of the sixth and seventh grades on Friday evening, May 22, at 8:15 o'clock. Tickets may be secured from any pupil of the school. A performance will be given on Thursday afternoon, May 21, for the pupils of the school. Proceeds will be used to defray the cost of costumes and to start a music fund.

Scout Executive

Addresses Rotarians

E. A. Carlson Discusses Scouting as Feature of Boy Week.

HAVE PHILA. VISITORS

Scouting, as a part of Boy Week, was the subject of the meeting Monday night of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club. Edward A. Carlson, executive of the Delaware-Montgomery Counties council, was the speaker.

The history of Scouting in this country, and the value of the movement in the training of boys, was brought out. Mr. Carlson showed the increase in membership in twenty-one years to the present enrollment of 850,000, and stated that more than 4,500,000 boys had passed through the ranks.

"A boy learns through doing in Scouting," he said, "and the program is largely carried on out of doors." The speaker stressed preparedness and self-reliance. Incentives to learning are supplied through the merit badge system. Mr. Carlson made a plea for help in the movement by the men of the community.

An example of scout accomplishment was furnished by chairman Frank Seely when he presented Scout Jim Selby, who gave three harmonica selections.

A feature of the meeting was the presence of twenty-one members of the Philadelphia Rotary Club who live in the eastern part of the Main Line. One of the contingent, Joseph Alexander, made a gracious speech praising the administration of president William H. Decker, who was also the recipient of a large bunch of roses.

To Give Luncheon

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Church will give a covered dish luncheon at 1 o'clock at the church on Tuesday.

College presents play. Students of Rosemont College will give "Beau Brummel," famous Clyde Fitch play, tonight and tomorrow afternoon. The proceeds will be used to equip the new studio at the college, installed in preparation for the course in art which will be added to the curriculum next year.

Daughters inherit. Mrs. J. Morris Wiley and Mrs. Theodore L. Wheeler were bequeathed the estate of their mother, Mrs. Emily C. Lillie, late of Panmure Avenue and Buck Lane, Haverford. It will be held in trust and at their deaths go to their children, Henry W. Wiley, Jr., and Jean L. Wiley, children of Mrs. Wiley, and Samuel B. Wheeler, 3d., and Jean Wheeler, children of Mrs. Wheeler.

JOHN C. ROUNTREE

Funeral services were held on Tuesday at 9 A. M., for John C. Rountree, aged 73, who died suddenly on Saturday morning at his home, 152 Cricket Avenue, Ardmore. Solemn requiem Mass was celebrated at St. Colman's Church, at 10 A. M. The Rev. Father Joseph Dougherty, of Villanova, officiated. Interment was at St. Denis' Cemetery.

Mr. Rountree was a telegraph operator in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad for more than 48 years prior to his retirement several years ago. He was born in Haverford on February 13, 1858, and was a well-known figure on the Main Line. The sand "sombreiro" which he always wore was a distinctive mark. He was prominent in Democratic politics of the vicinity, and in the work of the Veterans' Association. He was a member of the Merion Fire Company, St. Denis' C. A. B. and St. Denis' C. B. S.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Catherine Mulligan Rountree, and three sons, Thomas S. Rountree, of Uniontown; James J. and Leo C. Rountree, of Ardmore, and a daughter, Miss Blanche E. Rountree, of Ardmore.

L. M. High School Notes

Athletic Letters Awarded

Athletes of the basketball and swimming squads received their due rewards in the form of letters in the School Assembly of May 1. There were many extra rewards to outstanding members of the various squads which were presented with the letters by Mr. George H. Gilbert, principal of the high school. The boys who received their letters in basketball because of their excellent record this season received gold basketballs and medals besides their letters.

Those boys were James Turner, captain; Robert Blair, Roy Williams, John Pennypacker, James Bradford, Seaver Rose, Melvin Fryberger, William Smith, John Eaton, Hugh Wynn, Louis Myers and Bernard Connelly, manager.

Basketball awards were made to the members of the girls' squad, which consisted of Annette Bergeron, Rose Weigel, Anastasia McNichol, Helen Louise Thomas, Barbara Sutherland, Jo Baker, Polly Mitchell, Susan Abernathy, Louise Cross and Marie Byrd. Miss Rambo, girls' athletic instructor, made these presentations.

Besides James Donnelly's winning the Peter C. Hess Award for the highest score of the season in swimming, the following boys of the swimming team received their letters: Walter Knecht, Embury Rucker, Philip Pitcher, Harry Essley, Robert Riter, Douglas Robertson (captain-elect for next year's team), Gordon Colket and Richard McCurdy, manager.

The girls, not to be outdone in the presentation of swimming letters, were presented the coveted "L. M." by Miss Florence Nicholson, swimming coach for the girls. Also, besides her letter, Kitty Schofield was awarded the cup for the highest number of points. The others to receive the letters were Helen Scanlon, Kitty Miller, Dolores Wilson, Ruth Supplee, Isobel Fretz, Julia Moore, Julia Landis and Lois Rinehart.

Cynwyd Firemen Down

Police in Opening Game

The baseball team of the Union Fire Company of Bala-Cynwyd opened its season on Tuesday by defeating the Lower Merion-Narberth Police team, 10-4, at the Cynwyd School field before a good-sized crowd.

Bill Titlow pitched for the firemen while Dirks occupied the mound for the Police nine. Next Tuesday the Narberth Firemen will oppose the Cynwyd Firemen in the second game of the Police-Firemen League.

Merion Women's Team

Leads Interclub Race

Merion women's team continued to top the second division of the Interclub League by gaining two victories during the week. Last Thursday afternoon Merion defeated Penn A. C., 7 matches to 0, and on Monday beat Germantown second team, 5 to 2.

In the first division Merion also leads, winning from Philadelphia Country Club, 7-0, last Friday. The Cynwyd Club defeated Huntingdon Valley, 4-3, on the same day. On Tuesday Merion won from Germantown, 5-2, while Philadelphia Cricket defeated Cynwyd, 4-3.

Break Into Winning Column

Episcopal Academy won its first Interacademic League baseball game last Friday when it triumphed over Germantown Friends, 13-3. The Churchmen collected fifteen hits and were aided by nine errors by the Friends.

Reno, one might deduce from press reports, is a chronicler of the old wild and woolly days and a prophet of what may come in the next cycle.

Narberth Man Finds Reception Full of Thrills

latter were presented to the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress—who, by the way, may also be known as Alderman and Mrs. Edwin Thompson—in the Governor's room of the City Hall. Then there was a big reception where speeches were broadcast over WEA, flashlights taken. The Lord Mayor on this occasion wore his robes of office—black velvet gown, much trimmed with gold embroidery, peruke and three-cornered black hat. The gold chain of office is also worn at such times and the Lady Mayoress wears one, too. Photographers crowded on the tops of two big vans to get pictures of the guests when they stepped outside the building. The click-click for a few moments was incessant—almost every New York newspaper, agency and movie firm had a representative there.

This is the first trip which Mrs. Thompson has made to the United States, though her brother has lived here about 30 years—the last 13 of them in Narberth. She has been extremely interested in the American hospitals from all she has heard about them and wants, before sailing for home next Wednesday, to go through all that she has time for. The work for crippled children has been her especial hobby as is "the tired mother's" scheme—which means that in Liverpool when the mother of the family is worn out, she is sent away for a rest and the children are cared for adequately until she returns. Incidentally Mrs. Thompson has six children of her own.

In England the wife of the Lord Mayor has a great many duties of a social nature to perform; she opens hospitals, bazaars, entertains at immense functions in the City Halls and has to make speeches on divers occasions. The office of Lord Mayor itself is appointive and is a coveted honor. Only those who have served as Aldermen for some time would be considered for the appointment.

The trip to the top of the Empire State Building with Alfred E. Smith as their guide, was an outstanding event. And one thing which impressed Mrs. Thompson very much was that, when the wife of a prominent official was leaving at the end of a call, remarked that she would like to send Mrs. Thompson flowers to wear to an important dinner and asked what was the color of the dress she was going to wear, for she wanted the flowers to suit. This struck Mrs. Thompson as being most thoughtful.

On Tuesday night, Mr. Decker will attend the dinner which will be given on the R. M. S. Berengaria in honor of the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress, the final festivity given before they sail for home.

During their stay in New York they have been at the Weylin. This hotel was chosen because Ramsay MacDonald made that his headquarters during his stay in this country.

Mr. Decker, who is well-known in Narberth for his work as co-operative weather observer, will sail for England about the first of June to be gone for several months.

New Stamp at Postoffice

The new Red Cross stamp, commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the organization, has been received at the Narberth Postoffice, Postmaster J. Bertram Nesper announced this week. Printed in black and red, with the dates 1881-1931, it is a two-cent issue.

Mother's Day Mail

The Postoffice sends the timely warning that all cards and messages for Mother's Day should be mailed not later than today to insure delivery by Saturday. A heavy rush of such mail at the last minute may prevent until Monday.

Health Work Subject At Club's Meeting

that the care of the child should begin nine months before birth. Miss Martin then quoted from the Children's Charter, as recognized by President Hoover's White House conference, which reads: "For every child full preparation for his birth, his mother receiving prenatal, natal and postnatal care; the establishment of such active measures as will make child bearing safer."

"For every child health protection from birth through adolescence, including periodical health examinations, and where needed, care of specialists and hospital treatment; regular dental examination and care of the teeth, protective and preventive measures against communicable diseases; the insuring of pure food, pure milk and pure water."

"For every child from birth through adolescence, promotion of health, including health instruction and health program, wholesome physical and mental recreation, with teachers and leaders adequately trained."

Narberth's Center opened in January, 1930, and is supported by the Narberth Board of Health, the Woman's Club, the Main Line Branch of the Red Cross. Many of the members of the Woman's Club have acted as volunteer workers and have devoted much time and energy to the project. Their service has proved to be very valuable.

Dr. John Mitchell, a well known Pediatrician and member of the staff of the Bryn Mawr Hospital and the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, gave a practical talk on the care and the feeding of the preschool child, or as he stated, "the child from 2 to 7 years old." Special care should be taken of the child at this age in regard to the standpoint of his general health, as the child of this age is rapidly growing and his immunity to infection is very low. One of the most important factors in keeping the child well is his diet. Milk is, of course, very good for the very young baby, but as he grows older, he requires a diet in which there are proteins, carbohydrates and mineral salts. It is not only a question of giving a child enough to eat, but to see that he gets a well-balanced diet. Regularity of meals is also an important factor. Rest is another and the young child needs a regular routine. If we break this regular routine we are putting a strain upon him which we as adults do not feel.

Dr. Mitchell also spoke of vaccination as a prevention of smallpox, which is practically wiped out at this time, due to the use of vaccine; the use of antitoxin in diphtheria and also about common colds to which young children are very susceptible. One point that Dr. Mitchell stressed that a fresh cold, say in the first day was much more virulent than one three or four days old. Care should be taken in the beginning of a cold that the child is not exposed to the germs.

The Fellowship Meeting to be held at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Le Roy King, of Shirley Road, on May 14, has been postponed indefinitely.

The annual meeting and spring luncheon will be held on Tuesday, May 19. This is for club members only and reservations may be made with Mrs. J. E. Burrell, Merion 1404.

To Lecture at Haverford

An illustrated lecture will be given at Haverford College on Monday evening at the Haverford Union on "Excavations at Dura-Europos," under the auspices of the Classical Club by Jotham Johnson, a member of the expedition of 1928-29.

New Petition Would Include Windsor Ave. in Business

environment of our churches (St. Margaret's and the Presbyterian Church) disturbed by the encroachment of business."

The Rev. John Van Ness, of Grayling Avenue, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, when asked his opinion on the matter, stated that he had not heard about it but that the idea did not appeal to him. The prospect of business in the immediate vicinity of the Presbyterian Church did not meet with his favor. "There would seem to be enough stores in the Borough now," he said.

The prospect of business coming up Narberth Avenue was termed "very disagreeable" by the Rev. Robert F. Hayes, of 208 North Narberth Avenue, rector of St. Margaret's Church, when questioned on the matter. Father Hayes expressed the opinion that it would be detrimental to the interests of the church to have business extend at all beyond Narberth and Windsor. From a practical standpoint it would be bad if stores should come there since plenty of parking space was needed in the vicinity of the church during the week as well as Sundays.

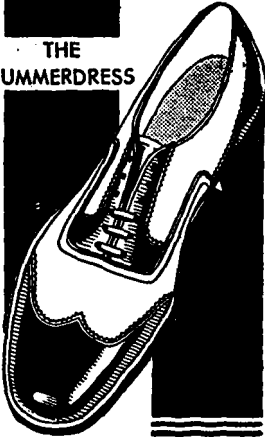

About thirty residents attended the hearing on the revised Zoning Ordinance, which establishes a new business district on Montgomery Avenue from Narberth to Haverford Avenues.

Most of the discussion centered around the depth of setbacks from the present curb to allow for parking and sidewalk. The present plans allow for a setback of twenty-five feet from the present curb. Further provisions are for buildings of an attractive and substantial character.

NEVIN F. MACAULEY

Services were held this morning at 8:30 A. M. for Nevin F. Macauley, son of David and Martha Macauley, at his parents' residence, 311 Conway Avenue. Solemn requiem mass was held at St. Margaret's Church, at 10 A. M. Interment was at St. Denis' Cemetery.
